3, Japan

Rain swung a bridge in darkness to a man, then, moments later, a woman. It slashed the birches, their swaying whites like overlapping memories, dashed black, encountering massive, rushing form: a straw cape.